Six Speak Art Exhibition

Easy Read Information

Introduction

Six Speak is the name of an art exhibition.

The exhibition was put together by Jade French.

Six Speak is part of the National Advocacy Conference.

It featured 6 learning disabled artists.

About the exhibition

The art exhibition is online. People will be able to view the exhibition on the internet.

This is the link to the art exhibition: https://www.artsteps.com/curate/5f3 114ba69391364e6cad245/1

The art exhibition opened on Monday 26th October

The art exhibition is about selfadvocacy, speaking up, choice and control.

The artists

Patrick Moses

Claudia Williams

CLAUDIA WILLIAMS

istrations on paper (2020)

deep need to express herself through her drawings, using her artwork to communicate ideas and relenges. During the Covid -19 lockdown Claudia's sister Dionne supported her to set up a studio at home with paper, a stack of pens, an orange apron and Smooth FM on the radio. These portrait drawings of Claudia. Dionne and mum Elaine were created when first returning to the Actionspace studio after the lockdown.

of Claudia's drawing practice, marking the moment in time the drawing was created. During lockdown with Claudia's usual active weekly routine entirely and abruptly closed down, time stopped still and the date no longer featured in Claudia's drawings whilst we all stayed at home and life semend on pause.

SIX SPEA

Welcome to Six Speak, an exhibition of by six learning disabled artists based i or these artists responded to an ope ow does being an artist support the ai If-advocacy?

Through video, painting, illustration, co ocetry, these artists provide valuable in heir experiences of housing, protest, s hoice-making, demonstrating the imp hat art plays in advocacy.

23

The artists

Stephen Harvey

Michaela Overton

The artists

Ria

Andrew Johnstone

You can listen to an audio version of the texts:

https://www.jadefrench.com/recipeforagoodlife-987228.html

More information

Advocacy conference website www.blackbeltadvocacy.com/ conference